Instruments of Change

The West Seattle Food Bank

The Junction Food Bank was founded in 1981 to serve people in need. We changed our name to West Seattle Food Bank in 1999 to better reflect the community we serve.

For many years we operated out of a storefront on Genesee Street that was so small our clients had to wait outside, even in the most inclement weather, to receive their much-needed food.

The “three projects/one community” capital campaign made it possible for us to build the new West Seattle Community Resource Center, the home of the West Seattle Food Bank and five other service agencies. The Food Bank was created with the needs of our clients in mind, and to allow adequate space to maintain a viable supply of food.

On May 1, 2007 we started serving clients from our new location. Clients now have a comfortable lobby in which to wait, a better supply of foods to help them maintain good health, and access to agencies providing resources that include employment, dental and health services, housing, educational programs and more.

OUR MISSION

The West Seattle Food Bank is committed to eliminating hunger in our area by:

- Securing and distributing quality, nutritious food to clients
 - Educating clients about good nutrition
- Increasing public awareness of hunger in our community
 - Coordinating community services for clients
- Assuring continuity of services to clients through a convenient, accessible location.
